INDORSED BY THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

That the Kentucky Irish American is steadily growing in favor with its readers and usefulness to the public is evidenced by the action of the Central Labor Union at a recent meeting in giving this paper its indorsement, which is the more welcome and appreciated because unsolicited and unexpected. The publisher is grateful, and will endeavor to merit this additional recognition. Our friends will be pleased to learn that the proposition favoring the indorsement was unanimously adopted by the delegates of both bodies. The preamble and resolutions adopted by the Central Labor Union are as follows:

Whereas, Many misstatements have recently appeared in the press of this city relative to the Central Labor Union and organizations represented therein; and Whereas, The Kentucky Irish American has always been a consistent and unbiased champion of the trades union movement; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union indorse said Kentucky Irish American as the official newspaper of this body.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this organization and all affiliated unions be communicated to the public through the columns of the aforesaid paper.

FIRST ANNUAL BALL.

The first annual ball to be given by the Louisville Printing Pressmen's Union will be held at Music Hall on Thursday, October 26. This union is composed of nearly all the printing pressmen in the city and numbers among its members some of the brightest and best artists and mechanics to be found anywhere. While their number in point of membership is not as large as some of their sister unions, yet as entertainers they are hard to beat. As this is their first public entertainment the committee of which Mr. J. H. Wagner is Chairman will leave nothing undone to make it a success and guarantee all who attend a pleasant evening.

LYONS' NEW PLACE.

John C. Lyons, for the past two years doing business at 1321 West Market street, has moved to 1090 West Main street, formerly Welch's Tavern, where he will be glad to treat his many friends to the best the market affords. He still runs his famous large glass.

JOE NEVIN

Elected Grand Marshal For the Irish-Americans in the Carnival Parade.

Enthusiastic Meeting at Hibernian Hall Last Thursday Night.

Executive Committee Make Satisfactory Report and the Badges Distributed.

TO MEET AGAIN THURSDAY NIGHT.

The largest meeting yet held by the Irish-Americans to make preparations for participating in the Elks' fall carnival parade took place Thursday evening at Hibernian Hall, with County President Murphy in the chair.

Secretary Frank Cunningham read the report of the Executive Committee, which was unanimously adopted. Besides making the necessary arrangements it urges every Irish-American citizen to assemble at Hibernian Hall Monday week and aid in swelling the ranks of their division and making a showing that will be the equal of any other.

Chairman Feeney being absent, Thos. W. Tarpey, of the Finance Committee, made a fine report and presented the badges to be worn to those present. They are small but handsome, embracing the national colors of the United States and Ireland uniquely intermingled. Capt. Joe Breen reported that Company A, Hibernian Knights, would turn out in full dress uniform, as would also the St. Patrick's Cadets. Pleasing but short addresses were made by Messrs. Matt Winn, R. A. Watson and Gus Kane, the former stating that he would urge those Knights of Columbus not Elks to join with the Irish-Americans.

Upon motion the Secretary was instructed to extend invitations to the Hibernians and Irish-Americans of New Albany and Jeffersonville to participate with them in the opening exercises on October 9.

It was also decided to observe Irish-American day, October 17, and invitations will be extended to Irishmen all over the State to be present on that occasion.

County President Murphy announced that divisions of Hibernians might also be present from Frankfort and Covington. Other speakers were Joe Nevin, John J. Flynn, Jeff Bannon, Tom Tarpey, William Lawler, Tom Keenan and John McAteer, whose remarks created much enthusiasm.

Col. John Kelly said that he favored the Elks and Irish parades, recounting the pleasing impressions created by the observance of St. Patrick's day years ago. He favored all such enterprises as the present, believing this an opportune time to make a fine display. His four boys and himself would be in the ranks. The sentiments expressed were applauded again and again.

Mr. John McAteer and Louis Hamel also spoke most encouragingly and paid a handsome tribute to the enterprise of the Elks.

Joseph Nevin was elected Grand Marshal, and will announce his aides next Thursday evening.

Several hundred badges were distributed, and all those who will turn out are urged to report at next Thursday night's meeting and be supplied.

The names of John Keating, National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians; Hon. John Finerty, of Chicago, and Hon. Bourke Cockran, of New York, were suggested for orations on October 17, in addition to Hon. Edward J. McDermott and Hon. Matt O'Doherty. The entire matter was left with the Executive Committee, who will confer with the Elks' Advisory Board.

Every Irish-American in the Falls Cities will be expected to be in the ranks or else out of the city October 9.

HALF FARE TO CHICAGO.

On October 2 to 10 inclusive the "Big Four Route" will sell tickets to Chicago and return at $8 for the round trip, on account of fall festival and dedication of Government building. Tickets are good returning leaving Chicago up to and including October 14. Information furnished on application to S. J. Gates, General Agent, 213 Fourth avenue, Louisville.

Every mother has the best boy; the worst boy invariably belongs next door.

THEATRICALS.

For next week the attraction at the Temple Theater will be a play that has attracted large audiences and won much applause in the leading cities of this country. For the first time in Louisville the Meffert Stock Company will present "The Idler," a love story, delicate but of remarkable strength. The effects of an early flirtation on married life is the thread upon which the story is mounted. It points a moral, and the play will be adorned with entire new scenery and all the original effects that won it favor at the Lyceum Theater in New York City. Mark Ross, an "Idler," after many stirring adventures in America, returns to England and there meets Sir John Harding, M. P., whom he at once recognizes as the principal in an unfortunate adventure that occurred in the wilds of America, and which ended in the death of a man named Strong, whose brother has sworn to be avenged. This brother appears upon the scene and then ensues a number of thrilling situations until the close of the play, which will be magnificently mounted.

That famous combination of burlesquers, the Rentz-Santley Company, are underlined for an appearance at the Buckingham next week, and it will be the first opportunity in a long while that our theater-goers have had to see this well-known beauty trust. Always in the fore in presenting new and novel features, their success being evidenced by the swarms of imitators, they have led their competitors in the race for superiority. Great as have been their presentations in the past, they are overshadowed by their present immensity, being greater in numbers, superior in quality of entertainers, grander in wealth of scenic display, more sumptuous in magnificence of costumes, its past glories fade in comparison with the present grandeur. Murphy and Nolan, a pair of unusually entertaining comedians, will lead a bewildering lot of beauties in the new burletta, "The High Flyer Club," which has proven very popular. This will be its first presentation in Louisville.

Where the "Who is Who" company appeared last season it left behind a name second to none in the fun making line, and the announcement that "Who is Who" is coming to the Avenue next week beginning Sunday matinee, will be received by theater-goers with genuine pleasure. "Who is Who" is a comedy that classes with the very best of plays "constructed for laughing purposes only," and it has a number of high class vaudeville features to enhance its value. This is the third season of this company and it is better and stronger than ever. The play is one continual round of complications, which are all straightened out in the last act. The company is a large one and contains a number of well known people.

HOW WARS BEGIN.

Mrs. Twaddles had been reading about the Peace Conference.

"I don't see why men have to go through all that rigmarole to keep from fighting," said she. "Why can't they be sensible and live in peace?"

Mr. Twaddles said it would be difficult to explain to her all the causes of war and—

"Oh, yes, of course; certainly," said she. "I'm only a woman and wouldn't understand. That's the way you men always—"

"I didn't say so, my dear. I only—"

"Oh, of course, of course, sneak out of it. That's just like—"

"Mrs. Twaddles, I tell you—"

"Don't you Mrs. Twaddles me, you wretch, or I'll let this teacup fly at your miserable—John Twaddles, don't you lay a hand on me or I'll jab you with this fork."
